Early English Books Online

1473 - 1700

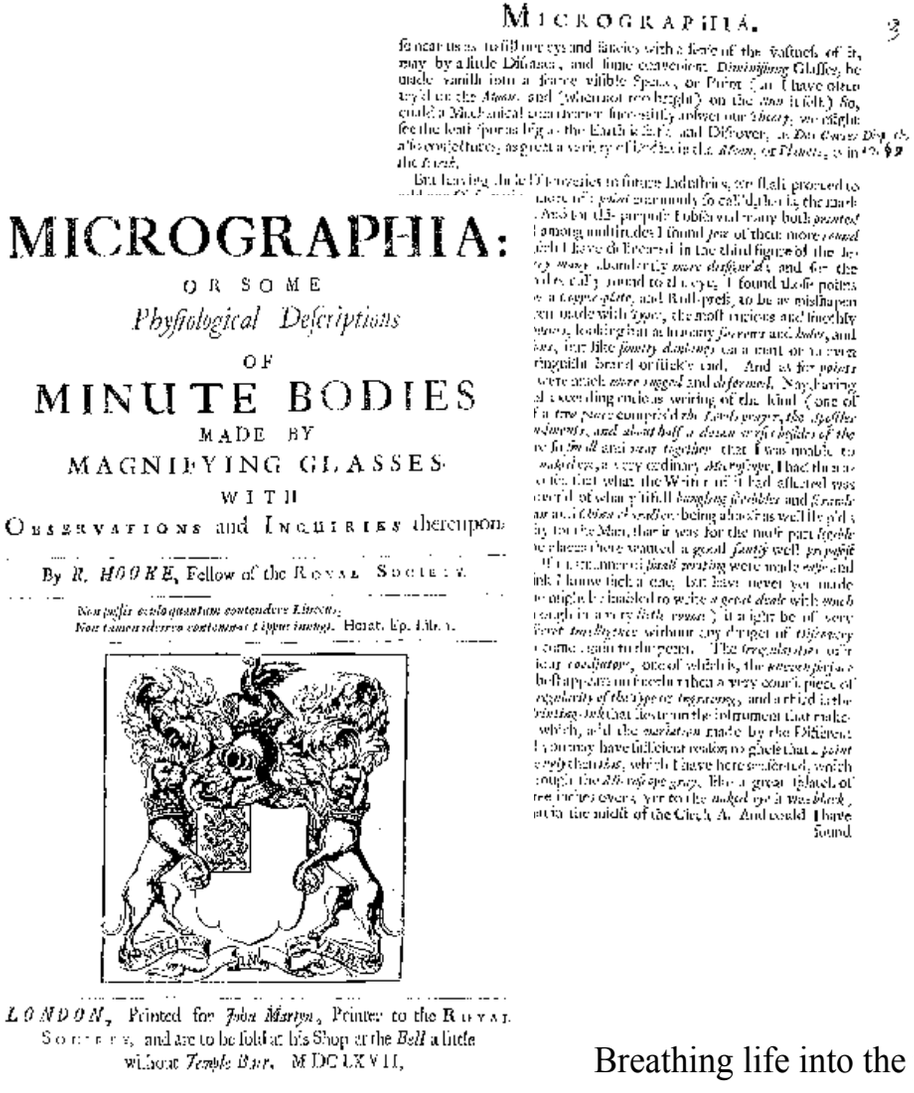
ProQuest COMPANY

Science

Micrographia: or Some physiological descriptions of minute bodies made by magnifying glasses by Hooke, Robert, 1635-1703
London : printed for John Martyn, printer to the Royal Society, and are to be sold at his shop at the Bell a little without Barr.
1667

Bib Name / Number:
Wing (2nd ed.) / H2621

Copy From:
Trinity College (Dublin, Ireland) Library



MICROGRAPHIA:

OR SOME

Physiological Descriptions

OF

MINUTE BODIES

MADE BY

MAGNIFYING GLASSES

WITH

OBSERVATIONS and INQUIRIES thereupon.

By R. HOOKE, Fellow of the ROYAL SOCIETY.

Non poſſis oculo quantum contendere Lynceus;
Non tamen idcirco contemnes Lippus inungi. Horat. Ep. lib. 1.

LONDON, Printed for John Martyn, Printer to the ROYAL SOCIETY, and are to be ſold at his Shop at the Bell a little without Temple Bar. MDCLXVII.

MICROGRAPHIA. 3

Imagine what it would be liketo browse through thousands of early printed works, without leaving your desktop; to discover in seconds the treasures of early printed English literature that not only enhances your research, but sends you back to a time when America had only just been discovered, where astronomy was believed to be a black art and where William Tyndale was burnt at the stake for translating the Bible into English.

With Early English Books Online, you can delve into 227 years of history. This resource provides access to over 125,000 volumes of early works, printed in English or in England between 1473 and 1700, and comprises over 22.5 million page images. It covers a wide range of subject areas and is by far the largest research collection of its kind available online.

Breathing life into the past